DISTRICT APPROPRIATION BILL. The Conference Report Adopted by the House This Afternoon.

MR. M'COMAS CONTENDS THAT IF THE BILL IS

PASSED AS REPORTED BY THE CONFEREES

THERE WILL BE NO DEFICIENCY—TALK ABOUT STREET BAILBOAD MOTORS, SUFFRAGE, ETC. The House laid aside the sundry civil bill today and took up the conference report on the District appropriation bill. It was agreed, after some discussion, that there should be

THE THREATENED DEFICIENCY. Mr. Mutchler spoke against the. conference report, basing his opposition upon the report of the District Commissioners that if the bill should become a law in the present form there would be a deficiency. He said the deficiency would be at least $275,000, and possibly it would reach $400,000. He said according to the earlier estimate of revenue the deficiency would be $276.830. In the estimate of revenues there was one item of $97,500 for taxes upon new buildbuildings will not be more than $60,000, all of which may not be collected. This would enlarge the deficiency by twice the amount route has not been decided. He will produce the same estimates was an be accompanied by Secretaries Noble, Tracy, of difference between the two or $75,000. In the same estimates was an item of $45,090 for deficiencies. This was item of $45,090 for deficiencies. not large enough, the amount of District deficiencies for past years caused by the gen-eral deficiency bill being $79,634.79, an increase still further increase the deficiency. These two items added would swell the deficiency to $386,466 under the most favorable circumstances.

He said that to approve the conference report was to make a debt against the District or to place in the hands of the Commissioners the eretion to scale down the expenditures authorized by the bill so as to keep within the revenue. He thought that Congress should appropriate just the amount that could be safely expended and should say how it should be expended.

Mr. Mutchler yielded five minutes to Mr. Sayers, who also spoke against the adoption of DISCUSSING STREET BAILBOADS.

There was a long discussion over the provision that the street railroads earning ten per cent shall within eighteen months substitute some other motive power in the place of horses, but the confusion on the floor, by reason of general conversation, was so great that it was impossible to hear what was said.

Mr. Sayers raised some objection to the phraseology of the provision and Mr. McComas explained. Mr. Heard thought the length of time for the change was not sufficient. Mr. McComas said there would be no diffi-culty in making the change in one year, but that six months more were allowed that there might be no possible lack of time.

MR. M'COMAS CONTENDS THAT THERE WILL BE NO DEFICIENCY. Mr. McComas, returning to the question of deficiency, said that the bill was well within the limit of the revenues of the District, but that the Commissioners were arguing in favor of dividing the payment for the expenditures on the new water main and the zoo park in twenty-five annual payments. He said he proposed to show that there was no deficiency, notwithstanding the remarkable figures of the Commissioners. He then proceeded to show wherein the figures of the Commissioners were wrong. He said the revenues of the District would be far in excess of the last estimates of the Commissioners. He had a letter from the District auditor, under date of July 26, which showed that if the receipts for the next year were as great as those already collected for the year preceding, the deficiency would not be more than $23,000, and suggesting that the natural increase would more than overcome this deficiency. Mr. McComas said that there was no doubt of the revenues exceeding the appropriations. following are the opening and closing prices of ew York Stock Market, as reported by special subject had made him confident of what he declared.

IN FAVOR OF THE CONFERENCE REPORT Gen. Henderson next spoke in support of the conference report. He said that the House committee were unanimous in their opposition to the proposition to extend the payments on the water main and the zoo park.

He strongly defended the proposition to make street railroads adopt some other motive power in the place of horses.

MR. BRECKINRIDGE WANTS A CHANGE. Mr. Breckinridge in a general way opposed the report on the ground that they ought to be cautious about creating a deficiency. He then spoke of the anomalous government of the District. He thought there ought to be some sort of readjustment or dissolution of the partnership between the government and the District. However proper the plan may have been at the time of its adoption, he thought that there had been changes. He thought it would be in the interest of economy to let the District collect and spend their own revenues.

THE DUAL SYSTEM. Mr. Vaux spoke of the dangers of deficiencies. He thought that deficiencies were apt to arise from the uncertainty of the dual system of making appropriations.

money for street improvements preference should be given to streets which are largely built up. THE FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Bayne answered the suggestion that the government of the District should be separated from the naional government, stating that the Constitution expressly provides that the national government should exercise sole control of this District, and declaring that this power of conrol could not be delegated. He added that the present government of the District was the best in force in any municipality. THE QUESTION OF SUFFRAGE. Mr. McAdoo thought that the people of this District were intelligent enough to be given the right to govern themselves. An argument against this was an argument against the advisability of popular self-government.

The denial of the right of suffrage to the people of the District was a denial of the essence of popular self-government. A DEMOCRATIC CRITICISM. Mr. McMillan criticised the majority for the delay in passing the appropriations bills. He twitted Mr. McComas with having boasted that the appropriation bills were to be passed very promptly and not delayed, as the democrats had delayed them in the former Congress, and isked where his boasted promptness was. Mr. Cannon spoke for a few moments to show that the practice of extending appropriations did not originate in this Congress. THE GOVERNMENT A GOOD ONE. Mr. J. D. Taylor, recurring to the question of suffrage, said that a large number of the residents of the District voted elsewhere. He said that the government here was a good one. and another thing that some seemed to forget was that the nation owns the District and governs it for the whole people, that it might be the pride of the whole nation. Mr. McComas said that in the public interest of the great nation he believed that the appropriations should be made dollar for dollar out of the general revenue and the District rev-

THE REPORT ADOPTED BY A RISING VOTE-57 TO 27 A vote was taken on the report at 2:30. A rising vote resulted in the adoption of the report by a vote of 57 to 27. Mr. Mutchler then called for the yeas and

MO. M'CREARY WANTS TO KNOW. When the roll call was started Mr. McCreary asked what the vote was on. The Speaker said it was on the adoption of the conference

Mr. McCreary asked hesitatingly what the and the subject of the report was and Mr. Reid replied that it was the report on the District appropriation bill, on which debate had this morning been limited to two hours, now just closed. This provoked a laugh on both wides of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House of the House at the expense of Mr. Mendeller of the House o

THE COMPOUND LARD BILL. The House committee on agriculture today decided to report favorably the bill introduced in the House by Mr. Conger last Monday to regulate the manufacture and sale of compound lard. The bill is similar in language and scope to the amended bill already reported by the committee, the only material changes being a few small reductions in the rate of taxation, and the purpose of reporting this last bill is to facilitate action on the subject in substituting it for the amended bill first reported and thereby avoiding the necessity for separate votes on the numerous amendments to the original bill.

Mr. Hazelten left the room and returned with a legal volume of authority on evidence and proceeded to read from it at length, claiming that it settled the matter conclusively and that the authority of the Commissioners was complete in their own limits and that it was optional with Col. Robert whether or not he would allow the matter to be made public.

Mr. Claughton said that he had not asked what some one had told Col. Robert about Guy, but simply what Col. Robert had told him.

This being the case he held that as there was no one to be protected there was no reason why the veil of secrecy should be cast around that conversation. A few criticisms were made about letting the unsworn testimony of the ex-policeman Smith get out into the public print and this BROUGHT COL. ROBERT TO HIS FEET with an earnest objection. He held that the board of Commissioners was not a court, and he objected strongly to any criticism being made in that way upon the actions of any of the Commissioners.

Mr. Douglass interposed and called upon Mr. Claughton to confine his argument to the merits of the case and not to descend to personalities in any way.

"If any one is to blame for letting those papers get out we are all to blame together, said Mr. Douglass.

SAID COL. ROBERT EXPRESSED AN OPINION. "But I want to show that Col. Robert expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant," said Mr. Claughton. "Then you raise the question that Col. Robert should not sit upon this trial?"

"That's it exactly." "Well," said Mr. Hine, "this is not the place nor the time to raise that question. And hold that the question Mr. Claughton has asked Lieut. Guy is out of place and should not be answered as it is irrelevant, to say the least." Mr. Douglass took same ground and the question remained unanswered.

Shurland did not follow directions, but went "off down town on a bum," and as a result of his actions there and later at Mrs. Boyd's was tried and dismissed from the force. ADJOURNED TILL FRIDAY.

I ride a deal in all parts of the town and the grievances of the people living in the near vicinity of the death-dealing tracks. I need not specialize. The condition of the railroad curved streets is damnable; no words are strong enough to adequately portray the situation. Let people go carefully through Virginia avenue and other railroad streets as I have and they would justify the streets as I have and they would justify the people if they should rise en masse and destroy the abominations. They must be a strongly law-abiding people since they do not, but the rich Pennsylvania corporation strongly intrenched in a law-making Congress seems to have the monopoly in law breaking performances. #### CARRIERS FOR SMALL TOWNS. A Bill to Extend the Free Delivery System Favorably Reported.

Senator Mitchell, from the committee on post offices and post roads, today reported favorably, with amendments, the bill to extend the free delivery system. The bill, as introduced, proposed to introduce the system into towns and cities of not less than 3,000 population, or when the post office receipts were not less than $5,000 for the previous fiscal year. The committee changes these figures to 5,000 population and $7,000 post office receipts. A letter from the Postmaster General shows that there are 294 towns that would be entitled to the free-delivery system under the provisions of the bill, and the estimated expense of putting it in operation is $679,229. The committee says that an appropriation of $350,000 would be amply sufficient for the present fiscal year, provided the bill should be enacted into a law at an oracle of the same early date.

MR. BULLISS' MOTOR. He is Arrested on a Charge of Obtaining Money by False Pretenses.

Mr. Hugh Turner, a citizen of Salt Lake City, who formerly resided in Augusta, Me .. appeared in the Police Court a couple of days ago and swore out a warrant against Robert G. Bulliss, a resident of Utah, for alleged false pretenses, the amount mentioned in the warrant being $30. Although that was all that was charged in the paper, Mr. Turner claims that he has parted with about $1,000 which has been enjoyed by Bulliss. Turner alleges that while he was in Salt Lake City Bulliss explained to him a motor of his own invention which he wanted to get patented, and to do so he had to come to Washington. Turner says that $150 was given him and when he reached here he wired for $250 more, which was also sent. Then he (Turner) made another advance of $75, which Bulliss afterward claimed was to be spent for expressing the money which he was to receive from the sale of the motor, the amount as he (Bulliss) claimed being $600,000 from the New York Central railroad and the same amount from the Illinois Central railroad. Mr. Turner also says that he paid a week's board in Providence Hospital for Bulliss and that the $30 he advanced was because he (Turner) believed that the scheme of Bulliss' was a bona fide one. Bulliss has been in New York recently, but returned last night.
